Heaven on Earth Productions announces

OaxacaLive!

Weekly Music Series Broadcasting from Oaxaca, Mexico.

We are passionate about great music and great musicians. We want to bring OaxacaLive! to the world because music entertains, enlightens, expands, transforms, and brings joy to people. Heaven on Earth Productions has created a bilingual and multi-cultural Oaxaca-centric live-recorded weekly music concert series.

Oaxaca de Juarez is the capital city in the state of Oaxaca in the south of Mexico. It has a vibrant and strong tradition of music: classical, jazz, rock, pop, son jarocho, son istmeño, cabaret, gypsy jazz, tambora Oaxaqueño, chamber music, and more. Every family has a musician.

Last April and May, we streamed five OaxacaLive! concerts on Saturday nights via Facebook. We reached 23,500 screens in Mexico, the United States, the United Kingdom, and South Africa. We started the broadcast for musicians who could perform live during the COVID Crisis. We want to continue that and also expand the broadcast and our reach.

Just like the legendary weekly music show, Austin City Limits, we want to give the wonderful musicians in Oaxaca, local performers and those touring as well, an opportunity to play their music and be heard by audiences all around the world. The show will be recorded in the beautiful 1909 art nouveau opera house, Teatro Macedonio Alcalá which has state of the art sound.

Producing the show in Oaxaca, Mexico, is economically attractive and the city's international airport efficacious for a high-quality international show.
